1938 Morgan Series 1 “Flat Rad” – A Pre-War British Icon

A truly drivable example – this 1938 Morgan Series 1 is a nicely patinated example of British motoring history. Featuring the distinctive flat radiator front end, this little roadster captures the spirit of pre-war craftsmanship and motoring pleasure.

Being a 2 seater configuration making it has those lovely clean body lines. Loads of lovely period details throughout: such and pressed steel wheels, wood dash, and leather trim The engine starts up on the button and runs smoothly with that unmistakable pre-war charm

An excellent cosmetic DIY restoration candidate or use as-is for historic rallies and shows and weekend motoring through the British countryside.

This car represents a unique opportunity to own a rare piece of Morgan heritage for little money, to use it as it is or to restore it to its former glory in your own time. With its lightweight body, spirited engine, and undeniable character, it's a driver's delight and a conversation starter wherever it goes.
