

1996 Jaguar XJR-6 4.0 Auto

£7995

1996 Jaguar XJR-6 4.0 Auto.

A very well-presented rare Jaguar XJ6R Automatic with a lovely colour combination of racing green with cream leather and walnut wood trim. We think is the true definition of a modern classic.

The paintwork is in very nice condition with a few age-related marks here and there but it really does present extremely well for its age, the interior is in lovely condition and shows minimal wear and the headlining has already been pinned up which a common issue with these.

The 4.0L supercharged engine provides wafts of power with 322BHP and will push on 6.6 seconds to 60 or is equally at home cruising in pure comfort. A true combination of refinement and sportiness, something that Jag have always done so well! The 1994 Performance Car magazine described it as "Probably the best saloon car in the world"

Our car has done 94000 thousand miles from new; you can see some minor rust patches near the sunroof but that really doesn't detract from the overall condition of the car.

It was a highly specified car when new and over and above the already high spec it had a huge amount spent on optional extras such as the following: Automatic gearbox, cruise control, cup holders, self-dimming mirror, full size spare wheel, headlamp power wash, heated front screen, memory seats, sunblind, tool kit, cream leather, Harmon Kardon audio and a CD player. The list price in 1996 was a staggering £55,015.00

Priced as just £7,995 This car is ready to test drive at our fully equipped dealership in leafy Berkshire!
